MESSAGE FROM THE DIRECTOR

Dear Social Work Students,

I want to address the recent hateful protests occurring on our campus and provide you with important safety information and resources during this challenging time. Your physical and emotional safety is my top priority. If possible, please avoid areas where hateful speech and demonstrations are occurring. If you have questions or need support, please contact me, any faculty or staff member, or our Peer Mentors.

Support Resources Available on Campus

Remember that our American Indian Program (AIP), Asian Pacific Islander Program (API), Black Programs (BP), Latin American Programs (LAP), and Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender Plus Programs (LGBT+) are committed to fostering inclusion, belonging, and respect. If you witness or experience harassment, you are not alone. ALL of our spaces are open and here for you, and we have mental health resources and rest areas available for all students.

If you are struggling and/or need assistance and resources, please contact the Concern Assessment and Response (CARE) Team.

You also have the right to report incidents that cause distress to your well-being by submitting a report online or contacting the Office of the Dean of Students at 575-646-1722 to speak with a staff member.

Know Your Rights

As future social workers, it's essential to understand your rights regarding peaceful expression:

- You have the right to express your views and make your voice heard peacefully
- Public universities must respect First Amendment rights
- You have the right to remain silent if approached by law enforcement
- · You can request legal representation if detained

The Social Buzz

For more detailed information about your rights when protesting, visit the ACLU New Mexico and ACLU Student Rights resources.

Final Thoughts

As social work students, you understand the importance of standing against hatred and discrimination while prioritizing safety and self-care. Your voices matter, and there are many ways to create positive change. Please remember that peaceful protest is powerful protest, and your safety comes first.

Dr. Mary Nienow, Director

ADDITIONAL RESOURCES

If You Choose to Engage in Peaceful Counter-Protest

Should you decide to participate in peaceful counter-demonstrations, please prioritize your safety:

Before You Go:

- Tell someone your plan: where you're going, how you'll get there, when you'll return
- Charge your phone and bring a battery pack
- Bring water, medications, and cash
- Write emergency contacts on your body (don't rely on your phone)
- Plan multiple routes in and out of the area

During Any Demonstration:

- Keep protests peaceful and non-violent
- Stay in groups—there's safety in numbers
- Maintain awareness of your surroundings
- · Don't engage with agitators—walk away instead
- Stay calm and keep your voice steady
- Don't resist arrest or escalate situations

What NOT to Bring:

- Anything that could be seen as a weapon
- Contact lenses (can trap tear gas)
- Valuable items you can't afford to lose

You can use this WIRED safety guide for more safety tips.

Alternative Ways to Support

If you cannot or choose not to attend demonstrations, there are other meaningful ways to support causes you believe in. The New Roots Institute offers excellent resources for alternative forms of support and advocacy.

MESSAGE FROM ANDRES URIBE

Andres Uribe (One of our Social Work Students) is rerunning for the ASNMSU Senate to represent the college of HEST.

I am reaching out to ask for your assistance getting the word out about elections, specifically assistance connecting with our all of our BSW students to complete the nomination form (which closes Wednesday, September 24th, at 5:00PM).

It has been an honor to serve as the only social work student in the ASNMSU Senate and Vice Chair of the Senate's Credential and Archives

Committee; however, there is still much work to do! There is still funding to be secured for our HEST and social work student organizations, revive the Senate's Special Committee on Education, and identify and mentor upcoming social work students interested in running for Senate.

New Mexico State University News Release

Marisa Gonzalez, assistant professor in the School of Social Work at New Mexico State University, has been selected for the prestigious Fulbright U.S. Scholar award.

Gonzalez, who is also pursuing a Ph.D. in social work at Colorado State University, will spend 10 months at Dalat University in Vietnam during the 2025-26 academic year.

At Dalat University, Gonzalez will support the NMSU School of Social Work's undergraduate internship program while conducting dissertation research on international academic collaborations. Her project, "Social Work Education: Enhancing Policy and Practicum through International Collaboration," will explore how U.S. academic social work partnerships are perceived by host institutions abroad with the goal of advancing mutually beneficial and culturally responsive collaborations in higher education. The NMSU School of Social Work is housed in the College of Health, Education and Social Transformation.

Live Your Dream Award application due Nov. 15

Undergraduate female students who are the primary wage earner/source of financial support for their families (including children, spouse, siblings and/or parents) are encouraged to apply for the Live Your Dream Award given by Soroptimist International of Las Cruces. Soroptimist International is a civic organization that seeks to improve the lives of women and girls through education and economic empowerment.

To be eligible, students must have at least one person besides themselves that they are financially supporting. Students from the Las Cruces campus as well as branch campuses may apply.

The award can be used for tuition, books, transportation, childcare or any expense associated with attaining an undergraduate degree. Nine awards ranging from $1,500-$2,500 will be given. The local winner will then be eligible for awards of up to $5,000 at the district level and $10,000 at the national level.

Applications are available at https://www.soroptimist.org/our-work/live-your-dream-awards.html. The application form and reference form must be submitted by 11:59 p.m. on Nov. 15.

For more information, please contact Dr. Esther Devall at edevall@nmsu.edu or 575-642-3322.
