School of Social Work

October 9- October 16, 2024

MESSAGE FROM THE DIRECTOR

Happy October! This week marks the half-way point in our 15-week semester. I'm sure you are all busy with papers, projects, presentations. It can seem like a lot, but remember it is all designed to help you hone your future social work skills. How you approach your class work and education is predictive of how you will practice, so use this time to take risks, make mistakes, and learn from all that is before you.

Next Monday is Indigenous Peoples Day. Please take time to acknowledge and recognize how important it is to celebrate all the contributions Indigenous Peoples have made to the land, community and culture of today. Here's a piece I've assigned before in my policy class on the founding of the U.S., excerpted from Roxann Dunbar Ortiz's book, An Indigenous Peoples' History of the U.S.: The United States is founded upon the model of European conquest

The University will also be celebrating Indigenous Peoples Day on Monday, October 14 from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. at the Corbett Center Student Union. An opening ceremony, lunch and dance presentations will be going on during this time. For more information, contact Michael Ray at 575-646-4207 or mikerry@nmsu.edu.

October is also Domestic Violence Awareness month. Working for a domestic violence agency in rural Wisconsin was my first professional social work position. The issue continues to be one of great social concern today. To raise awareness, NMSU is hosting the third annual Clothesline Project which is an interactive display of T-shirts containing messages of hope and despair. You can see the display of over 250 shirts on Tuesday, October 15 in the Corbett Student Union ballrooms from 9 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. I hope to see you there!

Make it a great week!

Dr. Mary Nienow, Director

Staff Spotlight

Sherry Clements, Administrative Assistant Intermediate

We are thrilled to introduce Sherry Clements, our new Administrative Assistant Intermediate, who has been with the School of Social Work for three months. In her short time with us, Sherry has already made a significant impact with her dedication, attention to detail, and positive attitude.

Sherry's organizational skills and willingness to go the extra mile have quickly made her an essential part of our team. Whether she's assisting with daily administrative tasks, supporting faculty, or helping streamline office operations, Sherry approaches every challenge with enthusiasm and a smile.

Please join us in welcoming Sherry to the School of Social Work and celebrating the great work she's done so far. We are lucky to have her on board!

THE CLOTHESLINE PROJECT

WHAT DO THE COLORS OF THE T-SHIRTS REPRESENT?

White: Someone who died because of violence

Yellow: Survivor of physical assault or domestic violence

Red, Pink, or Orange: Survivor of rape or sexual assault

Blue or Green: Survivor of incest or childhood abuse

Purple: Someone attacked because of their sexual orientation

Brown or Gray: Survivors of emotional, spiritual, or verbal abuse

Black: Someone disabled as the result of an attack or someone assaulted because of a disability

Criminal Justice Department to Host the Third Annual Clothesline Project!

The Clothesline Project invites survivors and their friends and family to decorate T-shirts, helping to "break the silence" about the devastating effects of violence while celebrating survivors' resilience and profound impact on our communities.

In honor of Domestic Violence Awareness Month, the Criminal Justice Department has proudly hosted this internationally recognized campaign since 2022. Over the past two years, we've welcomed over 1,000 students and created nearly 250 T-shirts representing survivors' stories.

This year, the Clothesline Project will be held on October 15 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Corbett Center Student Union ballrooms.

We encourage everyone in the NMSU community to support this powerful exhibit and stand in solidarity against violence. For more details, contact Ahram Cho at 575-646-5159 or at acho@nmsu.edu. Let's make our voices heard!

The NMSU Office of Experiential Learning is excited to host the 10th annual Health Professions Fair.

November 12, 2024

2:00 pm - 5:00 pm

NMSU Corbett Center, 1st Floor

Students, alumni and community members will have the opportunity to meet with representatives from hospitals and social service agencies seeking to hire in nursing or other health related professions. These organizations look to engage with Aggies who major in programs from several colleges such as Human Nutrition and Dietetic Science and Family and Consumer Science; Counseling and Educational Psychology, Kinesiology and Special Education and Communication Disorders; and Nursing, Public Health Sciences and Social Work to name a few.

Students, alumni, and guests can review the most recent list of employers participating via the Handshake link below. There is no need to pre-register to attend.

Handshake is also accessible on the OEL website at oel.nmsu.edu or <https://nmsu.joinhandshake.com/>.

It is recommended that students research potential employers in advance of the career fair, dress professionally and have their resumes reviewed prior to the fair. The Office of Experiential Learning and the Student Success Center offers assistance with resume reviews and interview preparation.

For more information on career preparation, you may contact the Office of Experiential Learning at: oel@nmsu.edu or call: 575-646-1631. Students can also schedule an appointment via Handshake.

The Student Success Center can be reached at: ssc@nmsu.edu or call: 575-646-3136.

For more information concerning the fair, contact the NMSU Office of Experiential Learning at 575-646-1631 or oel@nmsu.edu.
